

THIS GLIDER made an emergency landing just off North Ave. in Antioch last Saturday when the pilot, Galen Asher of Chicago, was forced to set down as his plane lost altitude at a spot three miles from this village on route 45. Realizing he could not reach Milwaukee, he tried for the Antioch airport. No one was injured. The glider landed near the home of Mrs. Drom on Drom court.

Emergency Landing Made By Glider in Field Here

The Glider N3887A flown by Galen Asher, of 10921 South California Avenue, Chicago was forced down about 2 p.m. last Saturday on Drom's field on Drom Ct., near North Ave., on its attempted flight to Milwaukee from a glider meet-being held at Half Day.

Asher, a glider flying enthusiast, was forced to make a landing not on his schedule last Saturday.

At about 2 p.m. he found that his plane was rapidly losing altitude at a spot about 3 miles from Antioch on Route 45.

Realizing that he could not reach his objective destination - Milwaukee, he tried for Antioch airport. Not being quite able to make even the local airport, he spotted the field of Mrs. Drom on Drom court near North avenue and glided safely to an uneventful landing.

Asher stated that he and his glider were a part of the three-day holiday meet which was held at Half Day, Ill. last Saturday, Sunday and Monday in which a number of members of a glider flying club from all over the central part of the country were taking part.

He also said that as a boy he had spent a great many pleasant days from time to time as a summer visitor to Antioch and vicinity.

He professed an attachment for the town and said he hoped to return again without being "forced" by air currents, or lack of them.

Request Aid Of 3 Girls

Three teen age girls who were seen standing near the Scout house about the time of the August 24 fire are being asked to contact the Antioch fire or police chief.

One girl was described as short and at the time she was seen was bent over tying her shoe. The second was taller and when seen was waving her hand. The third was described as a brunette.

The first two were by the pillars in front of the Scout house and the third was by the building.

They are asked to contact either fire chief Edgar Simonson or police chief Walter Scott.

Investigation of the fire and its cause is continuing and the authorities hope these girls will shed some light on both.

Hearings Slated On Zone Changes

Dates for two hearings on zoning changes in the village of Antioch were set by the Lake County Zoning board of appeals this week.

The first is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 25, in the Antioch Village hall to reclassify from an R-4 (residential district) to a B-1 (Business district) in Volk Bros. Mid-Lakes subdivision.

Petitioning for the change were Emogene A. and Leonard Case.

The second hearing in the Village Hall at Antioch will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 29, on the same kind of a zoning change.

Petitioners in this action are Franklin L. and Laurie Crandall.

This is located in H. H. Crandall's subdivision and near or along the route of highway 173.

A third hearing set by the county zoning board of appeals is for the county board room in the courthouse at Waukegan at 10 a.m. Thursday, October 11.

This will consider general amendments to the Lake county zoning ordinance adopted in April 1939 and subsequently amended.

Shopping Center Bld'g To Start In Lindenhurst

LINDENHURST — A shopping center that will include a large super market, a hardware store and several smaller business houses will be built on vacant land in Lindenhurst, possibly starting this fall.

Piggly Wiggly stores has been reported to be the firm that will open the super market, although that could not be confirmed Wednesday.

The home office of Illinois at Rockford told the Antioch News Wednesday morning that it would open a new market in Round Lake within 45 to 60 days.

It admitted that negotiations had been underway to open one at Lindenhurst but whether papers had been signed for the store were not known Wednesday.

Reports in Lindenhurst this week insisted that a Lake Villa-Lindenhurst-Chicago firm was going to finance the shopping center project.

The center would be located near the Shell gas station and on land partly occupied by a large sign saying such a place would be built on that site.

THE LINDENHURST planning board learned of the shopping center plans being just about final when it held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the Village hall.

Chairman Paul Wright broke the news as the meeting was about to break up about 9 p.m.

The planners had spent much of the evening planning their program for the coming year. A new planning board took over its duties Tuesday night.

Each member was given parts of a long range project to study and to report on at the October meeting on the 13th.

Among the items were a post office and a post office sub-station with the latter to be located at the shopping center, streets, street lights, sewage disposal plant and sewers, water company, subdivisions, recreation, parks, schools and churches.

OTHER PROBLEMS that will be studied will be public buildings and grounds, zoning, house numbering, sidewalks, industrial sites, street names, fire hydrants, fire station and police headquarters.

It was decided to discuss house numbering, a post office, P.O. sub-station and street lights at the next meeting in October.

It was stressed that the planning board is only an advisory group that reports to the board of village trustees with recommendations.

The planners make no laws, set up no rules or enforce them.

The master plan that will be considered by the board this year was set up several years ago.

Plan of the new planning group is to bring this master plan up-to-date.

Dr. Midgley Quits Board

Formal action on the resignation of Dr. Calvin Midgley of Antioch from the governing board of the Countryside Hospital association will be made at a meeting of the board about Oct. 1.

The local physician resigned at a meeting of the delegates held Sunday at the Lake Villa grade school.

He said he could not give the necessary time on the board due to the pressure of his practice and other commitments.

Dr. and Mrs. Midgley are giving $1,000 to the hospital fund and will do what they can to help the work of the hospital whenever possible.

He told the delegates that on the whole doctors in Antioch and Round Lake "felt kindly toward the idea of a new hospital in the area."

His comment followed a report by Mrs. Jane Rundgren on the work of a committee at carnivals in Lake Villa, Antioch and Round Lake.

Response at Lake Villa was reported as "excellent" but at Antioch and Round Lake, it was almost nil.

A $1,000 donation by the Fox Lake Volunteer fire department was reported by Eugene H. Walaszek.

Harvey Quirk and Mrs. Vivian Frazier were named at the Sunday meeting to investigate the hiring of a professional fund raiser.

Elected co-chairmen of a nominating committee for board members to be elected at the annual meeting next month were Mrs. Bert Henry and Mrs. Rundgren.

Mrs. Rundgren was elected as publicity chairman to succeed Winthrop Lyman, who resigned because of his absence from the community for much of the time.

Spring Grove Factory Job Progressing

SPRING GROVE — Work was going pretty well late last week on the construction of the 512 by 200 foot building of the International Register company on the outskirts of Spring Grove.

The first unit of the factory which eventually is expected to employ 1,400 persons, will be of steel, brick and stone construction. Foundation pourings for the structure are nearing completion.

Arnold N. May, president of the A. N. May Construction Co. of Richmond, told the Antioch News that about a dozen men were on the job right now but that more would be employed when steel work starts.

The building now under construction just off U. S. highway 12 will house the production of electronic products, including time clocks, meters, heating elements, automatic switches and allied lines.

Two more units of like size are planned.

Weather Outlook

The 30-day weather outlook for September indicates near normal temperatures in most Illinois areas, but below normal in the extreme southwest, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Rainfall should be near normal over the entire state during September.

Arnold May Fulfilling Ambition Of Helping His Old Home Town

As Told to the Antioch News
When but a lad in his native village of Spring Grove, Illinois, Arnold May dreamed of the time when he would be able to supply employment that would keep the young people at home and aid thereby in the natural growth and development of his home community.

Today that dream is materializing for that same boy is now the president and active head of one of the larger contracting and building concerns in northern Illinois.

Arnold N. May Builders, Inc., is an Illinois corporation formed in June 1955 growing out of a proprietorship which was founded in April 1950 upon May's return to the United States after about four years of foreign service in engineering and building projects overseas.

The Arnold N. May Builders, Inc., is making Arnold's dream come true

Only 2 List Fewer Than A Year Ago

Schools in the Antioch area reported registrations as of Wednesday noon up somewhat from the same figures a year ago.

Only two—Emmons and Hickory—told of smaller days' registrations. The Antioch grade school, including the new Oakland school at the corner of the Loon Lake and Deep Lake roads, reported 723, with 458 of those at the "in town" building.

This compares with about 670 registered in the two schools a year ago.

Channel Lake school told of 151 registered as of Tuesday as compared to 136 last year.

Grass Lake school listed 144, or 12 more than in 1958.

Hickory school as of Wednesday had 28 registered with one more pupil expected to sign up. There were 38 on the lists a year ago.

Emmons school told Wednesday of 73 registrations, or two under the same days of 1958.

Over in Lake Villa area, there were 1,050 registered in the combined Lake Villa and the Hooper school buildings, up about 70 persons from the last year.

Hooper school had 335 of this 1,050 total.

No statistics were available from Antioch Township high school as of late Wednesday afternoon.

All the schools except perhaps Hickory said that vacations were not over for some students so more may be registered by the end of this week or next week.

High School Bond Ballot October 10

October 10 will be the date for Antioch Township high school district patrons to vote on a proposal to build a new high school at the intersection of the Deep Lake and Loon Lake roads.

Amount of the bond issue will be decided at a meeting of the board of education scheduled for Sept. 16.

A proposal for a bond issue of $1,785,000 to construct a building at the rural site was defeated last May 1, 042 to 899.

The site has been offered to the school district for a price of $600 an acre or $30,000, up $10,000 from the price that was offered earlier.

Increased labor and material costs plus the rise in the cost of the land needed since the last referendum confronts the board as it decides what size bond issue should be sought now.

A blacktop driveway for all-weather use which would run from the two highways in back of the school is being considered.

The board has conferred with the Lake County Civic league on the best and most economical way in which bonds may be issued.

The league heretofore has recommended shorter terms of retirement to obtain cheaper interest rates and to recapture the bonding power earlier.

Ted Larson, the school board attorney, has been drawing up various resolutions to be acted upon by the board at the Sept. 16 session in connection with a new high school.

Lindenhurst Man Hurt

LINDENHURST — A Lindenhurst resident, Gerald Harsh, 37, was taken to a Libertyville hospital Sunday suffering from fractured ribs and internal injuries after his car crashed into a utility pole, the corner of a building and a tree in Round Lake Sunday.

Antioch Firm Delivers Oil To Ocean-Going Freighter

St. Lawrence seaway benefits Antioch!
Or at least one local business has found the seaway of benefit—and very directly.

The other day the W. V. Lahti Oil Co. of Antioch was called on to deliver diesel oil to the Moormac Fir of the Moore-McCormick line at Kenosha, one of the well known freighter lines in the nation.

This oil went into tanks on board ship that supply the vessel's galley. The ship was loading army vehicles, ship's stores and other supplies for the U.S. Army occupation forces in France, W. V. Lahti said.

The vessel was to make one stop—Montreal, Canada—before it arrived in France. The ocean-going freighter would use the St. Lawrence seaway, the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence river.

Lahti said this call for his firm to supply oil to the ship was the first for him of this kind since the seaway opened.

Order for the Antioch company to pump in the fuel came from the Gulf Oil company, but the diesel oil was taken from storage tanks at Antioch.

Driving the Lahti truck was Otto Hanke.

A spokesman at the docks in Kenosha told the Antioch News that it was not unusual for a firm from as far away as Antioch to be called upon such as the Lahti company was late last week.

Thirty or so ocean-going ships have used the port of Kenosha docks since the St. Lawrence Seaway was opened. Most of them were in the 450 to 460 foot long class.

However, some were smaller, especially those which carry small foreign passenger cars to this country from abroad.

These 30 vessels do not include lake-going ships that dock at Kenosha. The Moormacfir had its troubles after it had been loaded with galley fuel oil by the Antioch firm when the freighter and a cabin cruiser collided Friday.

The 27-foot cabin cruiser valued at $15,000 sank in Kenosha harbor after being hit by the 445-foot ocean going vessel as the latter turned around in the basin after loading cargo.

There was no apparent damage to the freighter but the cruiser, Orion, has a hole in its stern. It is owned by a Chicago resident.

HARD AT WORK were these three men laying forms for foundations to the new factory being erected near Spring Grove to house the International Register Co. This was taken at the extreme rear of the structure. Reinforcing wire can be seen sticking out of some of the foundation pourings. These men work for the A. N. May Construction Co. of Richmond, who has the contract for the work. (Also see picture on page 5).

DEAR READER News Editorials

Guest Editorial

"This Old House", a melody of a few short years ago came to mind the other day and suddenly gave an insight to a problem we all face again on Oct. 10.

"This Old School", namely Antioch Township High School, has done herself proud for many years. The purpose for which it was built has been more than fulfilled, in giving an education to many who have attained higher goals than even they have dreamed about. Now just like the gas lights, horse and buggy, and the Model T, which all served their purpose well, since have had to give way to electricity, sports cars, and jets, so too must the antiquated forms of education keep up with the ever progressing age in which we live.

The debate in the minds of many seems to be why we cannot add sufficiently to "This Old School" to serve the purpose. Especially since we own some adjacent property, and it is a comparatively simple job to condemn whatever else they may need. First, let's get it straight, we don't say it can't be done; it can be done if that's what you as parents want. But somehow we of the Advisory Council and the Board of Education at the High School felt that you would want the best and most practical solution we could find, for as far in the future as it is humanly possible to foretell; and after all remember, we are all human!

Now back to "This Old School", for me to go into great lengths to explain our reasons would take a publication three times this size, so I would like to put it this way. Suppose you as a homeowner were given a sum of money large enough to build a new home and along with it you were given an old house, much too small for your family and with old style heating and plumbing; and you were also given an empty lot to build upon. Be honest now, wouldn't you start with the empty lot and build a new home for your family, rather than to start with one far too small and too old to serve your purpose? You would still have an old remodeled house, and probably have spent most of the money. This reasoning runs a parallel to the thinking of those who have worked so hard to find an answer to our school problem.

Remember pride in your school is a wonderful thing but please don't let Pride stand hand in hand with Prejudice, because then pride becomes blind and foolish. I am certain that your son or daughter, or mine, will be just as proud to say they came from Antioch Township High School as you and your father before you; and regardless whether it stands on the corner of Rtes. 21 and 173 or the corner of Deep Lake and Loon Lake Rds.

Mrs. Arthur Meyer
Antioch, Illinois

"Lest We Forget"

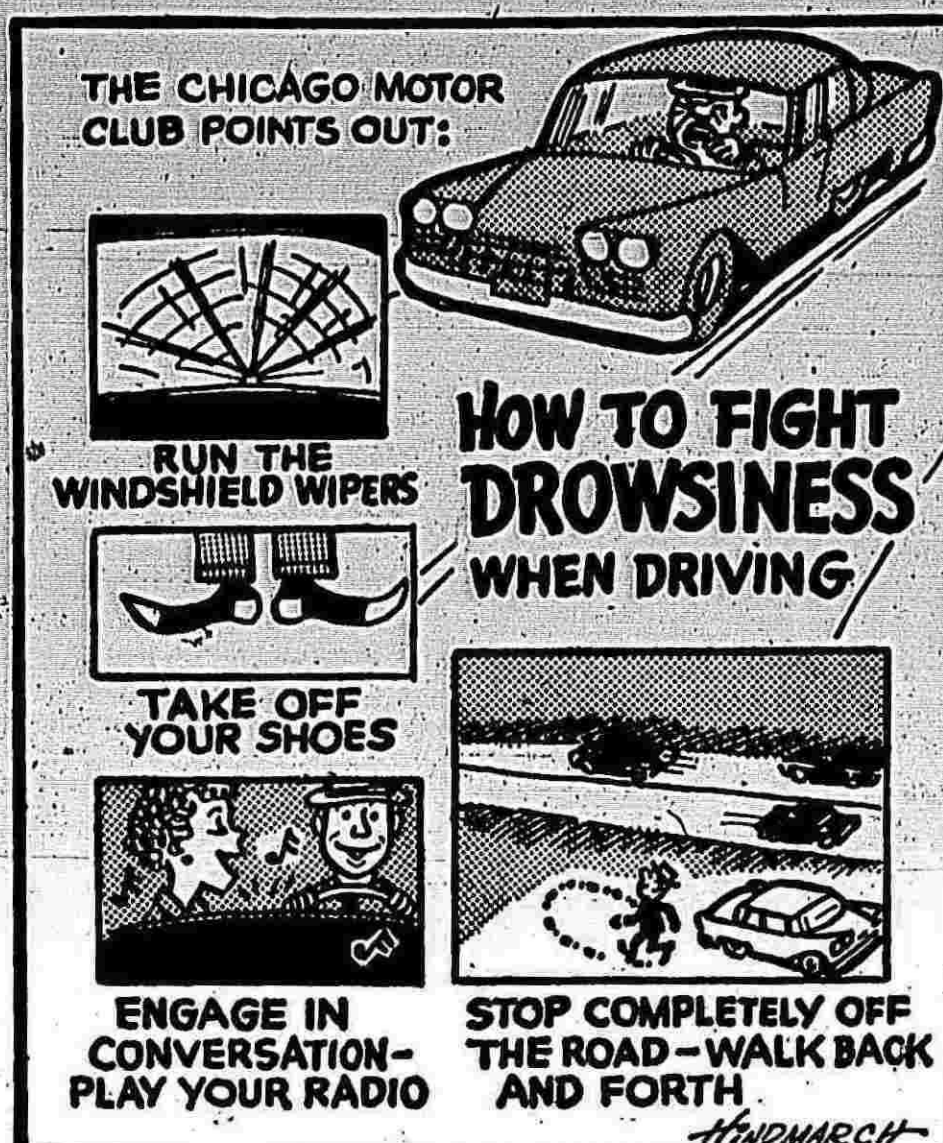

Lest we forget our children, we should remember to observe all of the good rules of careful driving now that school has re-convened for the fall and winter sessions. Antiochians are perhaps no more nor no less careful or careless than the residents of many other American towns who have congested problems of traffic. However, it is a compact area, this town of ours and a goodly number of vehicles course through its streets during each day. Downtown, we have some long blocks which frankly invite "joy-walking." This is extremely dangerous and to do it ourselves invites our children to do the same. There are yellow lines at convenient distances along Main and Lake streets where pedestrians may cross with comparative safety. These should be observed at all times and will lessen the hazard of children getting across the street and proceeding along their way without delay.

Motorists should be compelled to observe these pedestrian traffic lanes. They should be educated to heed the bright yellow lines and regard them not only as precautionary measures for those who are walking but also the drivers. Since no signal lights are installed at the present in the village of Antioch, all stop signs should be religiously obeyed. To do so may save the life of your own or your neighbor's child.

"Rome wasn't built in a day," is an old and rather worn saying, but it surely applies when a motorist seems to be in a hurry to get to some place where we will have plenty of time. Some good admonitions are: "When you drive, operate three cars . . . your own and the one in front, and in back of you." Don't follow too closely, you can't see what is in front of the other fellow and he might have to stop very suddenly, and then where would you be? . . . right on top of him and the chances are, the car following you would be on your back too.

This isn't a big town. It isn't far to a cross walk. Take your time and go there to cross the street, you may have more time on earth by so doing.

Channel Lake Men Look Forward To 'Quiet, Relaxation' In Navy

By Pearl Kappel
Channel Lake Correspondent

At 5 o'clock on the morning of September 14, Daniel Runyard, Andy Milowski, Joseph Zeien and Don Sheehan, their eager young faces alight with anticipation, will report for duty in the U. S. navy.

They look forward to six glorious weeks when they will be free from parental supervision and irksome duties at home.

This will be only the beginning of four years of freedom, travel and adventure.

For the first six weeks, they have been assured they will not even be annoyed by visits from stern and demanding parents.

This is to give them time to adjust to their glorious new freedom.

Housed in air-conditioned barracks at Great Lakes (I've heard the air conditioning is achieved by the simple expedient of breaking the windows and leaving them that way.) They will loll on inner-spring mattresses, "shooting the breeze" with new friends, relieved of all responsibility.

Occasionally at their leisure, they will go out and indulge in a little exercise to keep them in trim.

They will dine luxuriously in the navy mess hall (a descriptive term). No mothers around to gripe about their dropping their clothes on the floor!

Just a kindly, soft-spoken naval officer who will gently suggest ways and means of improving their characters and physical condition. This officer will be like a mother to them, with none of the over-bearing possessiveness they must suffer at home.

He will wake them in the morning, think of ways for them to fill their leisure time, encourage them to make suggestions as to how conditions in the Navy could be improved.

In short, encourage them to develop into mature, thinking men, with initiative and the courage to do things their own way, without worrying over what their superiors may think of their actions.

At the end of the six-weeks period, it's true, they must leave their little home-away-from-home and spend twelve hours with their family.

However, by then, they will be so anxious to return to the fun at their base that they can quite easily endure the solicitude and coddling they get at home, without damage to their characters.

Eventually, they will start on the real object of their enlistment—the world! Luxurious cruises to lands of their choice!

An opportunity to mingle with, and learn the ways of, fascinating new peoples! They may even be as fortunate as my nephew, who drew an assignment to 11 months duty in Iceland.

Think of the opportunity to visit a place like this—a place he would surely, never, have visited if he hadn't joined the Navy!

A veritable winter resort, extending limitless opportunities for broadening the scope of one's interests.

So, enviously, we bid the boys good-bye for now. We hope they'll let us know how they get along and inform us on any of the delights of navy life we've overlooked.

Mrs. Mary Anna Petech, 65, of Shady-Nook Subdivision, died suddenly of a heart attack on September 4. She lived with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shaffer.

She is survived by a sister, Josephine Petru, a brother, James Kuchar, her daughter, Marcella Shaffer, and four grandchildren. She was buried on September 8 from St. Ludmilla's church in Chicago in St. Adelbert's cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bain are parents of a girl, Heidi Susane, born September 4 in St. Theresa's hospital. She weighed seven pounds, two ounces. The Bains have one other little girl, Heather.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vachta, former residents of Channel Lake, have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Eckert for about a week, leaving Sept. 9. They will remain in this area for the wedding of their granddaughter, MaryAnn Mallard, on September 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dowell and their sons, Dean and Terry, spent the Labor Day weekend at the home of the Harold Dowells in Berlin, Wis.

The Brownies of Troop 74 were also on that trip to Riverview on August 27. Sorry we forgot you, Brownies.

Norman Palenske returned to Culver-Stockton college in Canton, Mo., on September 1. His studies will start on September 9, but Norm had to return early because he's a freshman counsellor this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rogers returned September 6 from a week's vacation at Cable, Wis.

New officers were elected at the meeting of the Felter's Subdivision association on September 6. Bill Shelby was named vice president, Mrs. John Price, secretary, and two new aldermen, Roy Pearcey and Ted Maestranzi, completed the list.

The picnic held by Sunnyside association on Sept. 6 was a complete success. Beautiful weather contributed to everyone's enjoyment of the affair and a large crowd danced to the music of the Rhythm Kings through the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kania left Sept. 6 for a vacation at Cable, Wis.

A McGlynn family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Breul last weekend. Attending were Mrs. Mary McGlynn, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwarding of Green Bay, Wis., the John Runyards, the Donald Bjorks, the Emory Trussells and Mrs. Alberta Rogers and Carol McGlynn.

Mrs. Katherine Archer, Woodcrest subdivision, was visited by her grandson, Jerry Lindeborg of Dearborn, Mich., and two of his friends, Bob Winkworth and Bill Parsons, over the Labor day week-end.

Those of us who are content to be just average owe little to others, except a debt of gratitude to those who help keep the average down.

Special State Rules Apply To Trailers

The popularity of boating has made "truck drivers" out of many motorists who have purchased or rented trailers to pull their craft behind their passenger cars.

The legal department of the Chicago motor club points out that as the operators of such trailers, motorists become subject to many unfamiliar licensing, identification and operating regulations.

Under Illinois law, such trailers are "vehicles of the second division" and they are subject to registration fees based on their gross weight, including the vehicle and its maximum load.

As "vehicles of the second division," their operators become subject to a number of requirements which do not apply to drivers of passenger cars alone.

The motor club says these special requirements include:
 They: trailer must be inspected semi-annually for its safety factors, just as a truck is inspected.

The registration card for the trailer must be carried at all times. Speed is more strictly limited.

While a passenger car may be operated at 65 miles per hour outside of an urban district, the towing of even the lightest of trailers reduces the legal speed to 55 miles per hour.

With a heavier trailer, where the total weight exceeds 3,000 pounds, the speed limit is 50 miles per hour.

Special rules for trucks must be obeyed, such as following designated "truck routes" and not operating on streets reserved for passenger cars only.

The trailer must be marked with the owner's name and address and the vehicle's empty weight, in lettering at least two inches high and one-half inch wide, on both sides of the vehicle.

This information may be painted on the frame of the trailer, or shown on plates attached to both sides of the trailer.

Livestock Meet Set for Sept. 11

Lake county farmers can get close-up views of prospects for livestock during the coming year at the fall livestock outlook meeting to be held at 8 p. m. Friday, Sept. 11, at the Farm Bureau building on the fairgrounds.

A good attendance is expected, says farm adviser Ray T. Nicholas, who is arranging the meeting. He points out that farmers now face some important decisions in buying feeder cattle, deciding how many hogs to raise next year and planning marketing schedules.

The principal speaker for the meeting will be a representative of the University of Illinois college of agriculture. He will cover the price and supply situation for hogs and cattle, the feeds picture and consumer demand for meat.

A representative of a livestock marketing agency will discuss the current livestock market prices and trends.

Discarded Refrigerator May Be Death Trap; Safety Council Warns

"One death a year in a discarded ice box or refrigerator is one too many!"

With that thought in mind, the National Safety Council warns against discarding cabinets—preservers of food when in the kitchen, but so often destroyers of young lives when put on the back porch, in the back yard or on the junk heaps.

"The suffocation of children in discarded refrigerators and iceboxes, though declining because of the public's increased awareness of the problem, is an especially needless form of accidental death," the Council said.

Death in discarded cabinets came 18 times in 1955, 11 the following year and 14 in 1957, latest year for which figures are available.

Nearly 50 million refrigerators, iceboxes, freezers and other airtight cabinets are in use today, according to the Council. And they're being carted to junk piles—or worse yet, kept in the basement as an extra cabinet, or left in the back yard—at a rate of about a million a year.

Critical period is May through September. That's when most victims lose their lives in discarded cabinets.

Typical of the tragedies was the recent suffocation of two Indiana brothers 5 and 3 years of age. They crawled into a refrigerator and pulled the door shut, locking themselves inside. The cabinet's insulation probably muffled the boys' cries for help, authorities said.

How can such mishaps be avoided?

1. Teach children to stay away from discarded cabinets.
2. Remove the door if you discard a cabinet.

3. Remove latch stops so the doors can't lock. This can be done, usually, by removing a few screws.
4. Drill holes in the cabinet and remove the rubber gasket around the door.

"Better yet," the council said, "destroy the cabinet." Most states have legislation prohibiting death-dealing devices where they can become coffins for children, the Council pointed out.

Korean Veterans Could Receive More Training

SPRINGFIELD—Ralph E. Johnson, administrator of the Illinois Veterans' commission, announced that some Korean veterans may now be eligible for further training.

Congress recently amended that clause of Public Law 550 pertaining to change of program.

A change of program of education or training shall no longer include a change from one program to another where the first program is a prerequisite to, or generally considered for entrance into pursuit of the second.

New applications filed in cases previously acted upon by the VA will be adjudicated as received.

No approval will be made retroactive according to the new amendment.

Those veterans who have interrupted their training because further Veterans Administration benefits were denied, even though the period of interruption exceeds 12 consecutive months, may re-apply.

The extended period of interruption will be considered as being beyond the veteran's control.

Any veteran who has been denied further training by reason of the restriction previously imposed should contact the Illinois Veterans' Commission service officer at 108 S. Genesee street in Waukegan.

The office is open Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

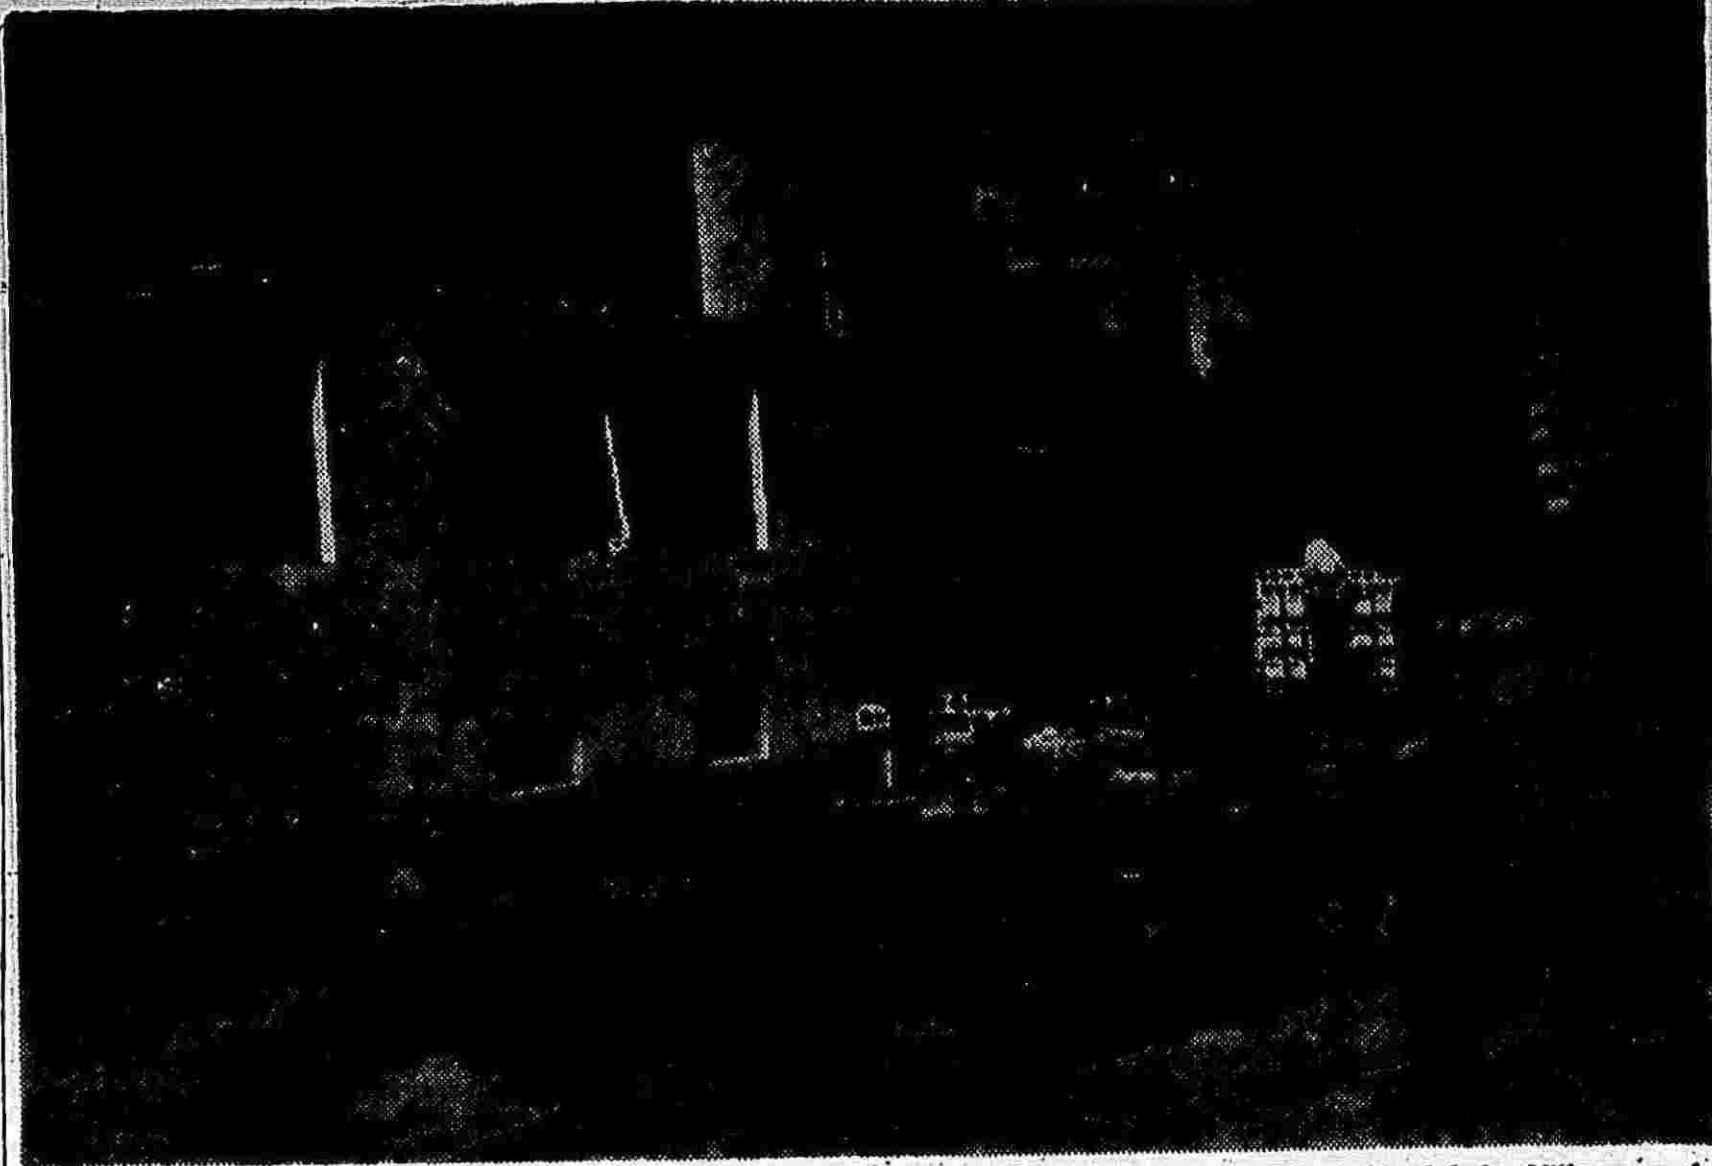

Boat Trailer Owners Warned

Boat trailer owners in Illinois are being warned that starting September 15 state highway police will begin enforcing a law requiring that there be "printed or otherwise firmly affixed to such vehicle on both sides thereof, in color or colors vividly contrasting to the color of the vehicle, the name and address of the owner thereof, the maximum empty weight of such vehicle and the certificate or permit number of such vehicle, if any."

The police clarified the point of the owner's address being painted or attached to the trailer by stating that only the city or town name would be required and not the specific address of the owner.

According to information received by the Outboard Boating Club of America from the police, the information must be printed in letters at least two inches high and one-half inch wide.

OBC was also informed that beginning Sept. 15 the state's 55 m.p.h. speed limit for cars hauling boat trailers would be strictly enforced.

NEW MOTEL RISES. This is a view of the new motel being constructed by Mrs. Beth Scofield of Lake Villa near the intersection of highways 132 and 21-83. Here stone was being taken off a truck at one end of the long two-story structure. The motel will have 72 units, with a swimming pool in the rear of the structure and a beach at Deep Lake. Many of the walls will be made of glass brick. Work on some interior walls awaits the completion of the roof. This motel may be ready for patrons by Thanksgiving of this year.

Old Method For Resuscitation

In an old book printed before the 1900's appears this method of resuscitating a nearly drowned person:

"The rules that ought to be observed in treating a person rescued from the water are few and simple. Dr. H. R. Silvester's methods of restoring the apparently dead or drowned—which have been approved by the royal medical and chivalric society—are practical, easily understood, and are in accordance with common sense.

"The one important point to be aimed at is, of course, restoration of breathing, and efforts to accomplish this should be persevered in until the arrival of medical assistance, or until the pulse and breath have ceased for at least an hour.

"Cleanse the mouth and nostrils; Open the mouth; draw forward the patient's tongue with a handkerchief, and keep it forward; remove all tight clothing from about the neck and chest.

"As to the patient's position, place him on his back on a flat surface, inclined a little from the feet upward; raise and support the head and shoulders on a small firm cushion or folded article of dress placed under the shoulder blades. Then grasp the arms just above the elbows, and draw the arms gently and steadily upward, until they meet above the head (this is for the purpose of drawing air into the lungs); and keep the arms in that position for two seconds. Then turn down the patient's arms, and press them gently and firmly for two seconds against the sides of the chest (with the object of pressing air out of the lungs; pressure on the breast bone will aid this.)

"Repeat these measures alternately, deliberately and perseveringly, fifteen times in a minute, until a spontaneous effort to breathe is perceived, upon which cease to imitate the movements of breathing, and proceed to induce circulation and warmth. This may be done by wrapping the patient in dry blankets and rubbing the limbs upward, firmly and energetically. Promote the warmth of the body by the application of hot flannels, bottles of hot water, etc., to the pit of the stomach, the arm-pits and to the soles of the feet.

"Warm clothing may generally be obtained from a bystander.

"On the restoration of life, stimulants should be given, and a disposition to sleep encouraged."

Also a remedy for snake bite from this same old book:

"Turpentine is said to be a sure cure for bite of a snake. It should be put in a bottle, and the mouth being placed over the spot, the liquid should be brought directly in contact with the wound by inverting the bottle, which should be held there until relief is obtained. A complete alleviation of pain has been known to ensue in less than a quarter of an hour. An important discovery."

It must have meant a non-poisonous snake, as it seems hardly adequate for rattlesnake nips. Very rarely does a harmless snake bite, even in self-defense.

And to kick the tobacco habit, this simple method:

Buy two ounces or more of gentian root, coarsely ground. Take as much of it after each meal, or often, as amounts to a common quid of "fine-cut." Chew it slowly and swallow the juice. Continue this a few weeks, and you will conquer the insatiable appetite for tobacco, which injures both mind and body, and from which thousands struggle to be free, but give up in despair."

"And what do you do besides teaching swimming?"

Social Security Payment Can Aid Someone in Need

"Your social security payment may help you when you need it most."

According to Bernard Barnette, district manager of the Waukegan social security office, social security payments are intended as a partial replacement of your lost earnings.

Social security is meant to provide a basic level of income.

The person who is no longer working for wages or operating a business, but who is eligible for social security payments, may rely on his social security check to partially replace the lost earnings.

In this way it will permit him to arrange for his financial needs.

There is an earnings test for the person under age 62 who has not substantially retired.

It is possible for such an individual to work throughout the year, earn as much as $2,080, and still receive one month's benefit payment. If you do not earn over $1200 a year, it is possible to draw benefits for the entire year.

After reaching age 62, there is no limit on your earnings. However, until age 62, you should contact your social security office if you retire, or if you have reduced earnings.

If you have any questions concerning social security, write, phone, or call at the Waukegan social security office.

SPRING GROVE FACTORY. Here is a scene of the new home of the International Register Co. that is rising just off U. S. highway 12 on the outskirts of Spring Grove. The photographer is looking toward a sign facing the highway with the foundations of the factory in the right background. The firm is expected to employ as many as 1,400 persons when this structure and two others are completed. About a dozen men are being employed by the Arnold M. May Builders, Inc., of Richmond but more are expected to be added when steel work starts.

Arnold May....

forces, Arnold May joined UNRRA and went to Hangchow, China, to construct dykes, sluiceways, and repair the Chien Tang Seawall. While there in 1948, he was asked by the American State Department to supervise all engineering projects then being subsidized by the American Government. He left Shanghai ten days before the Communists took over, arriving in the United States in April of 1949. While in China he completed more than fourteen million dollars of construction work.

Foreign soil again beckoned to young May. After returning from the Orient he was employed by the J. G. White Engineering Company of New York. It was while with this company that he was sent to Turkey. He supervised the construction of a power plant and auxiliary building at the new airport at Esenboas, just outside Ankara.

Returning from Turkey, he came back to McHenry county, Illinois, and started his construction business at Richmond. Today in his modern air-conditioned offices on the hilltop there in Richmond he can safely tell anyone that he is well on his way to his goal. Yes, he may soon see several hundred of his fellow citizens gainfully employed at home. There isn't much chance that Arnold won't build that factory. He has already proven that he usually does what he sets out to do. There are

Polio Shots Survey Slated This Month

Information on polio shots will be collected from a number of local families in connection with the September current population survey. The information is being collected for the United States public health service so that estimates of the number of persons who have had polio shots can be brought up to date.

The polio shot questions, to be asked of persons under 60 years of age, are:

Have you had any polio injections or shots? How many shots have you already had? When did you get the latest shot?

The polio shot questions will be in addition to the regular monthly inquiries on employment and unemployment.

a number of things that he and his associates have accomplished. Thirty-five people make up his regular staff but of course that will be only a drop in the bucket when Arnold really gets rolling.

In addition to building this huge factory, he plans a subdivision which will house at least a substantial part of the new residents brought to the vicinity by his efforts and a modern super shopping center catering to Spring Grove and the countryside which in itself is a real achievement.

Listing a few of the jobs which have been completed are the Spring Grove Methodist Church, Spring Grove, Ill.; St. Mary's Catholic Church addition, Pell Lake, Wis.; Toolcraft Factory, 8,300 sq. ft., Richmond, Ill.; Hillview Shopping Center, Richmond, Ill.; addition to and remodeling Koenigman Sausage Factory, Volo, Ill.; Nippersink Swimming Pool, 30x120, Twin Lakes, Wis.; Development and construction of 30 homes in Hillview Subdivision, Richmond, Ill.; Nippersink Manor Convention Hall, Genoa City, Wis.; and the A&P Store addition at McHenry, Illinois.

Arnold N. May is a remarkable fellow. Personable and affable. Radiating good fellowship this portly young fellow (he's only 42) is out to make his mark in this portion of our world. And, the chances are, he'll do it. He has chosen well. His home town, a tiny Illinois hamlet of only about 200 people will be benefited immensely by his efforts. They all speak well of Arnold and of his father and mother. He was born in this town and has lived nearby for the greater part of his life thus far.

He expects to raise his five youngsters here—let them grow up here, be educated in their early youth here among their friends and then he hopes they will return here as he did... and find something that their father has helped to make—a homey community, self supporting and contented.

Arnold was married in Shanghai, China, where he met his wife, the former Margaret (Peg) Foskett of Staten Island, New York City. The couple honeymooned in Hong Kong but are now again thoroughly Americanized in their modern ranch style home on the hilltop in Richmond. He states that although enjoying his journeys to 17 different countries since the war, he is perfectly content to settle for his remaining days in the McHenry county region where he spent his boyhood.

Phone Directory Will Include More Listings

Antioch's 1960 telephone directory will be "new and improved and will include alphabetical listings of phones in many nearby towns," telephone manager D. L. Hood announced Thursday.

This "new look" directory, to be issued next spring, will provide alphabetical listings for the entire Far North Suburban area, including phones in Waukegan, Libertyville and Zion.

At present only a portion of the telephones in this area are listed in the Antioch directory.

"This change will make the directory more useful to the Antioch area telephone users," said Hood. "Surveys show that many of our customers want a wider-range directory to match modern calling patterns."

"As our community and the surrounding area continue to grow, more and more people need to keep in touch with friends and businesses throughout the Lake county area."

"With all phones in this area listed in the Antioch directory, calling will be easier."

Classified listings in the yellow pages will continue as at present.

The colorful format now used on the Antioch directory will be continued. In addition, the new directory cover will show a map of the Antioch area and all towns and communities in it covered by the wider-range alphabetical listings.

Hood explained that because more numbers are provided, the directory will shift from its present "digest" size to the popular "magazine" style and will have four alphabetical columns to a page.

The type size in the white pages will be slightly smaller to prevent the book from becoming bulky.

But to give the pages extra whiteness and make the printing stand out better, a specially coated paper will be used in the new directories.

"We feel," said Hood, "that our customers here in The Antioch Area will like this new directory because it will provide modern, wide-range directory service in a single easy-to-handle book."

Retail Sales Drop In July In This Area

Retail sales in Antioch during the month of July totaled about $902,182, a drop from the $923,782 reported in June but still above the estimated sales of $850,332 listed in May.

These totals were based on what was collected through the city sales tax on retail sales in these months, a report from the state department of revenue said.

Other nearby communities had approximate retail sales as follows during July:

Lake Villa, $164,798; Lindenhurst, $1,824; Fox Lake, $955,162; Grayslake $414,054; Richmond, $91,914; Spring Grove, $20,634, and Round Lake communities, $525,704.

Antioch outpointed Zion, a community of about 10,000 people as compared to this village's 1,800 persons. Retail sales in Zion totaled $821,162 in July as compared to Antioch's $902,182.

Barrington sales were estimated at $1,160,522.

All these communities except Barrington reported retail sales down in July as compared to June of this year, as estimated through the retail sales tax.

Camp Lake Gardens Home Hit By Blaze

TREVOR—The Cottage of Ruth Duecker of Chicago located at Camp Lake Gardens subdivision was destroyed by fire late last week.

The building which had not been occupied for some time, was called a "total loss" by Trevor firemen who worked for nearly two hours to try and save the five-room building.

The blaze had too good a start before firefighters arrived. The "top was gone" when they pulled up in front.

Loss was not estimated and it was not known if insurance was held by the owner.

Leo Fox To Erect Quonset Building

Ground is being cleared near the intersection of the Loon Lake road and highway 21-83 for construction of a quonset type building to be rented by Leo J. Fox, Antioch contractor.

While a fair sized tract is being cleared, only part of it will be used by Fox.

Evaporated Milk for Infant Feeding

It is an especially significant event when a new baby is expected, and there are bound to be countless questions on the part of a new mother as to what to expect in the way of the baby's behavior and development. Eating and sleeping are the most important aspects of a new baby's life, and you can be pretty sure if the baby is fed properly, he will get the right amount of sleep.

"How" the baby is to be fed is a question to be settled with your doctor. If a formula is decided upon, the milk used in making the formula will probably be evaporated milk. Added to the milk will be water and a form of sugar. The amounts of the ingredients will be directed by the doctor, and he will also determine how many times a day the baby should be fed.

Evaporated milk is by far the most widely used form of milk for infant feeding, and only an evaporated milk produced by a responsible company with the strictest standards can qualify for doctors' recommendations for baby formulas. The Carnation Company has pioneered the use of evaporated milk in infant feeding using the highest quality standards possible. Carnation is a safe, nourishing and digestible form of milk for the baby's bottle... it is the accepted milk for infant feeding.

The Old Timer

"The trouble with political jokes is that they often get elected to office."

WONDERFUL WORLD

THE SKIN HEALERS

Skin ailments plagued even primitive man. Constant exposure, scorching sun, lashing winds posed serious health problems. Sickness and death—due to infection—were thought to have supernatural causes.

Through the ages, man's inventiveness developed "home-made" remedies—most were ineffective and highly odorous. Even today, African witch-doctors practice primitive healing...use native roots and herbs for antiseptics.

Today, sunburn, windburn, insect bites and minor skin irritations may still cause serious complications. Now, thanks to modern science and research, SEA BREEZE, a pleasant-smelling antiseptic lotion, provides soothing and cooling relief for affected areas—without staining skin or clothing.

Accidents in Home

Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home—despite the accident statistics.

The statistics might make you wonder about "home, sweet home."

1. Home accidents kill more children 1-4 years of age than any disease.

2. Home falls take 12,000 lives a year.

3. Home fires and other burns take the lives of 5,500 persons annually.

4. Accidental poisoning in the home claims 1,000 victims a year.

"Home accidents," the National Safety Council reports, "kill 27,000 a year, and injure more than four million."

"In view of these facts," the Council said, "you may well be concerned with the safety of your home."

"But when you stop and consider the great number of hours spent in the home, the statistics are more understandable even if the danger is just as real."

A hazard-free home, the Council said, results from practicing the safe way of doing things. "You'll soon do them automatically," it predicted.

Here are some danger signals to watch out for in the home:

1. Water or grease on the kitchen floor.

2. An unlighted stair, or toys and boxes piled on stair steps.

3. Oily rags or papers left in a corner of the basement.

4. Dull knives, which are dangerous because they force the user to apply too much pressure, and because most people don't have the proper respect for them.

5. Pots on the stove, the handles turned out for little hands to grab.

6. Rubbing alcohol, candy-coated laxatives, and aspirin left for small children to sample.

Winds in a hurricane seldom go over 150 mph, according to data compiled by the Navy's hurricane hunters. Average hurricane winds are 120 mph in the inner areas, tapering off to 40 mph on the outer edge of the storm.

Power Lawn Mower Brings New Hazards

The post-World War II exodus from the city to the suburbs brought with it a new-fangled problem—the power lawn mower.

One of the first mower accidents of record occurred 15 years ago to a soldier who was wounded in the leg, by a spoon hurled by a mower busy in his front lawn.

The number of mower mishaps has increased since then in direct proportion to the added popularity of the power mower.

In 1958 an estimated 15 million power mowers were in use. While no national statistics are available on the power mower accident problem, a study in Georgia turned up these facts, according to the National Safety Council.

1. Three out of 10 persons injured in mower mishaps are hurt by objects thrown by the mower.

2. One injury in seven results in some permanent disability.

3. Toes and feet are parts of the body most often injured.

Power mowers are especially handy for the large lawn, may be inconvenient for the small city lot. According to the Council, they're no more dangerous than any other gadget used around the year—if a few basic rules such as these are observed:

11. Don't use an electric motor when the grass is wet and slippery.

2. Don't let children operate a mower.

3. Refuel out of doors. Never reel a power mower while it's running or still hot from use.

4. Cut sideways, not up and down, on hills and banks. Be sure of your footing and balance.

5. Clear area to be mowed of sticks, stones, fire and other obstacles.

Know how to disengage the clutch and stop the engine quickly.

"Power lawn mowers," the Council agrees, "are a great time-saver. But they brought with them new hazards which users must guard against."

Livestock Outlook Meeting Scheduled

GRAYSLAKE—Annual Lake Co. livestock outlook meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Farm Bureau building of the Lake county fairgrounds.

The University of Illinois and the Cooperative Livestock Marketing agency will cooperate in bringing answers to questions on livestock prices, supplies, feed situation and consumer demand.

Feeder cattle and calf supplies are at a new peak and little price change but lower profits are likely from feed cattle, the livestock feeders will be told.

Farm advisor Ray T. Nicholas is planning the meeting.

The first signal book in the U. S. Navy was issued in 1797 by Captain Thomas Truxtun. The volume contained approximately 190 signals.

More decorations for valor have been awarded, per man, to the submarine service than any other Navy branch.

Robert Langosch Visits Far East, Mediterranean, India On Cruise

Bombay, India, seems to be the most interesting port visited by the U. S. S. Moale, which was the first American combat ship to visit the place since 1947, a letter to parents of Robert Langosch of the Loon Lake district learned recently.

Langosch is an electronic technician on board the Moale.

A "family gram" was sent to the families and friends of all officers and men on board the Moale by the commanding officer, Commander W. A. Spaulding, Jr.

The cruise included the French Riviera, including Cannes and Nice; the Suez Canal, the Middle East, Bombay, Beirut, Crete, Venice, Salerno, Naples, Barcelona.

The ship left Norfolk, Va., on Feb. 13, 1959, which the commander recalled was a "miserable" day with rain falling when the ship left the port and a fog set in in the channel.

"The trip across the Atlantic was relatively uneventful," Com. Spaulding said. "We had our usual quota of plane guarding in good weather and bad weather."

"The day we arrived in Gibraltar the weather was on our side. The sun was out and all of us got to see the 'Rock' in the early morning sunshine."

First stop by the ship was at Golfe Juan on the French Riviera.

March was a little too early to use the beach but a few hardy souls did go in swimming. Much perfume was bought and "some of it should reach the ladies."

From Golfe Juan, the Moale proceeded through the Suez canal into the Middle East. Here the crew saw a part of the world most of them had never seen before that time.

"While we were in Massawa, Eritrea, some of the men went on a hunting safari," the commander recalled.

"After spraying the African countryside with a goodly amount of Uncle Sam's M-1 ammo, they bagged eight gazelles, or 'Dik-Dik' as the natives call them."

"There was enough gazelle meat for one meal for the entire crew and it really tasted good."

People in Bombay were as interested in seeing members of the crew as the men were in seeing them.

As a result the men were invited to guided tours, beach parties, private parties, formal receptions, and athletic events. Moale managed to win some basketball games, but lost in soccer.

Early in August the ship was operating with other units of the Sixth fleet in waters west of Sar-dia. A visit was paid to Palma, Majorca, a city famous for its inexpensive prices and resort type living. Palma was the last liberty port for the Moale although a brief stop was made at Gibraltar just before leaving for the states.

Masons Are Invited To Grayslake Event

GRAYSLAKE — Members of Masonic bodies, prospective Masons and their ladies are being invited to a professional entertainment to be held Saturday, Sept. 12, at Grayslake high school.

Doors will be open at 7 p.m. and the performance will start about an hour later.

Personalities from television, stage and screen will present a program of comedy, songs and thrills for lodges of the 32nd district, A. F. and A. M.

The Scottish Rite Bodies, Valley of Chicago, are issuing the invitations to Masons, prospective members, wives and friends to attend.

Bread Baking Still Popular Among 4-H'ers

In this era of push button kitchens and prepared foods, it might be concluded that the culinary art of baking bread is doomed and will be lost to future generations of homemakers.

However, according to one who is in a position to know, this is unlikely so long as there are 4-H girls in the kitchen.

Miss Jane Wrenn, home economist of the national committee on boys' and girls' club work, reports 718,000 young 4-H cooks are presently engaged in various phases of food preparation including that of bread baking.

"These club members not only learn how to bake bread," she explained, "but they also learn how to show others in a step-by-step demonstration."

"Along with baking skills the girls acquire important information about diet, meal planning and serving."

Club members demonstrate their favorite recipes, exhibit products, and compete for awards at both county and state fairs. Many will receive awards this year for their bread baking ability, stated Miss Wrenn.

A county winner for example, will be presented with a handsome gold-filled medal, while the top state winner will receive a $50 U. S. savings bond.

While all winners are judged by the state extension staff, awards for the 4-H bread demonstration program are provided by Standard Brands Incorporated, through arrangements made with the national committee, Miss Wrenn reported.

Books Given As Memorials Helping Library Cover Many Reading Tastes And Desires

The book collection of the Antioch Township library is frequently enriched by magnificent books which are given as memorials.

Many of these books would otherwise be out of reach of the limited book budget which must cover a multitude of reading tastes and desires.

Thomas D. Clark's story of the westward movement, "Frontier America," explores every phase of the rich life of the expanding frontier from the middle of the 18th century to the virtual end of free land in 1890.

This panoramic story, sometimes tragic, sometimes humorous, was given in memory of Albert Herman.

The present generation carries so many scars from World War II which began 20 years ago that we are apt to forget World War I which ended 40 years ago.

"The Great War," by Cyril Falls, is a fascinating, compact history of that other war which did so much to change the world in which we live.

"The Great War" is a memorial book for Miss Elizabeth Webb.

The Son of Man said, "In My Father's house are many mansions." A great city has many national and ethnic groups who cling together as a defense against the strange world to which they have come in search of a better life.

Dan Wakefield writes about the Puerto Ricans who have come to New York City, each newcomer seeking out his own kind and making an "Island in the City."

"Island in the City" was given in memory of C. E. Cunningham.

Two of the books given in memory of Mrs. J. E. Brook are now available at the library.

"A Treasury of American Gardening" is a compilation of the works of many of the best-known writers in the field.

Montague Free has a chapter on garden soils. F. F. Rockwell writes about the kitchen garden; Marjorie P. Johnson discusses famous gardens and Helen S. Hull gives a brief history of garden clubs.

"Twenty Centuries of Christianity," by Paul Hutchinson and Winfred E. Garrison, begins with John the Baptist and the coming of Jesus.

In broad strokes the authors give a panorama of the history of religion and its growth through the centuries to the church of today.

"Richard the Third," by Paul Murray Kendall, is a study of the English king based almost wholly on pre-Tudor historical sources.

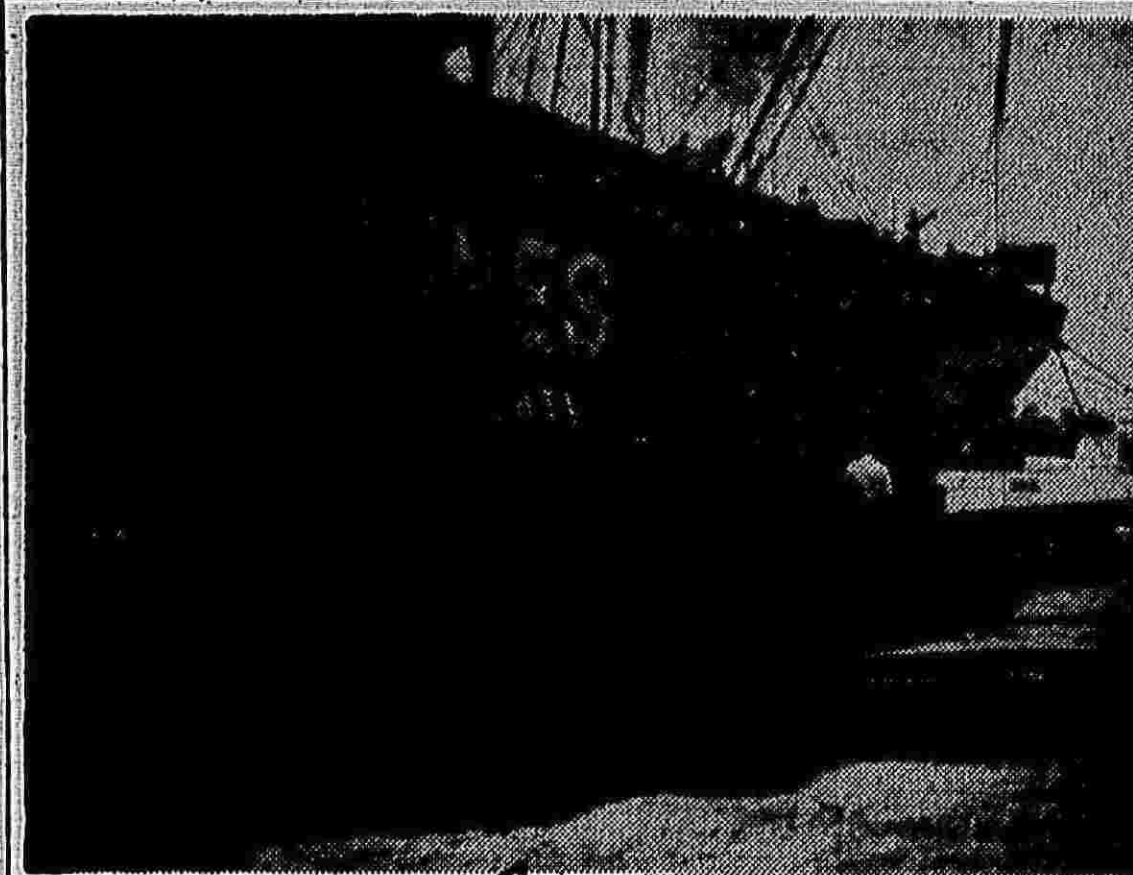

Although Shakespeare's melodrama portrayed Richard as cruel and ruthless, Kendall presents evidence that he was an able and conscientious ruler who fell because he would not become embroiled in political intrigue.

"Richard the Third" was given in memory of Dean Williams.

Conference Attended By James E. Corrigan

James E. Corrigan attended a conference for educational leaders which was held at Eastern Illinois University in August.

The conference, which was sponsored by the Illinois Education association, was attended by more than 300 selected leaders in education throughout the State of Illinois.

OIL DELIVERED by the W. V. Lahti Oil Co. of Antioch at the Moore-McCormick lines freighter is shown being pumped into the vessel from the dock at Kenosha. The fuel went into storage tanks for the ship's galley. It was believed to be the first time an Antioch firm directly benefited from the St. Lawrence seaway for this ship was an ocean-going freighter that used the seaway to reach the Wisconsin port. The vessel headed out of the port for France.

400 Registered At Salem School On Opening Day

SALEM, Wis.—Regular school sessions opened in the Salem consolidated school Wednesday morning of this week.

A half day of classes was held on Tuesday with the children in grades one and two going home at 11:30 a. m. Students in grades three through eight left for home at noon.

About 400 students began classes this week.

Youngsters starting school for the first time were allowed to go home as soon as they had been registered.

Principal Michael Korlewicz said that it probably would be Oct. 1 before two new classrooms would be ready for occupancy. It had been hoped they would be completed by the opening of school.

Other rooms still under construction probably will not be ready until next spring.

Included in the building program have been five new classrooms, a big multi-purpose room, principal's office, secretary's office, work room, sick room and closet space.

When the new addition is completed there will be 18 classrooms in the structure.

Fourteen full time teachers in addition to the principal, three visiting specialists in music, art and

Stones, Wood, Paint Among Items Used By Mrs. Marsh In Pictures

By Pearl Kapell

MRS. ISABEL MARSH

I suppose anyone could glue small stones together to form a picture—if someone suggested it to them—but the imagination that started Mrs. Isabel Marsh using this medium would be lacking in the final product.

This imagination and her own sparkling personality shine through all of Mrs. Marsh's work, to the infinite delight of the observer.

Mrs. Marsh is 87 years of age and lives with her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Aschenbrenner, music teacher at Antioch grade school.

She's bedridden, but that hasn't dimmed her bright sense of humor nor her desire to keep on working to record her impressions of the things she's seen through her long life.

Through all the years of her adult life, Mrs. Marsh has been making pictures of any materials she could lay her hands on.

Stones, wood, bits of plants, paints have all become her tools to combine into pictures that are pleasingly pretty, impressively real, or hilariously funny caricatures of people or situations we're all familiar with.

TRYING TO PIN down or characterize her many kinds of work is a little like trying to catch quicksilver.

Some of her little stone pictures, with their little stone pictures, with their clever sub-titles, are searching comments on human nature, with all its little quirks and fallibilities, and bring out the humorous aspects in everyday situations. Some show paths.

Some of her water colors of landscapes show her appreciation of the beauties of nature and are so real and show motion so perfectly you feel they must be very good, though she insists she is not an artist.

I suppose the one quality that runs all through her work is a deep appreciation of, and delight in, life and people and the beauties of nature.

She has the ability to pick out universal traits, portray them and label them, so that the observer can see what she sees.

With the help of her daughter, she showed us some of her work.

She's made figurines depicting fa-

Stay in Auto In Electrical Storm, Park

Unless the rainfall that accompanies a summer electrical storm is so severe as to limit driver visibility, there is no need for a motorist caught driving in the midst of such a storm to stop his car, according to Matthew C. Sielski, director of the Chicago Motor club's safety and traffic engineering department.

"Even if you are forced to pull over and wait the storm out, one of the safest places to be is right in your car," he pointed out.

Sielski said that since rubber tires insulate a car and keep the current from becoming grounded, there is little danger that lightning can harm the passengers.

"Of course, if there is a sturdy building nearby, it is much better to seek shelter there," he added.

If you do decide to pull over and wait out the storm in your car, Sielski offered the following safety tips: Don't park under a tree or pole which, if struck by lightning, may fall on top of the car.

Try, if possible, to avoid parking under overhead power lines strung along the roadside. During severe storms many of these wires are downed.

Park on high land where water won't accumulate.

Although you are safe when you remain in your car, it is impossible to tell whether a downed wire is "live" or "dead."

To be on the safe side, simply sit tight and wait, but avoid touching any metal parts inside the car.

If you have to summon help, use a wooden or plastic object to depress your car's horn button or ring.

miliar subjects by gluing small stones together, and pictures out of the same materials.

IN STONES that we would pass without a second glance, she sees the shape of a face, a hand, a leg, and puts them together to form a picture.

The pictures have sub-titles, most of them showing her irrepressible sense of humor. One is a group of three people—"The Preacher Who Praught, The Teacher Who Taught, and The Screacher Who Scaught."

If Mrs. Marsh can't find a word to express what she means, she lightly makes one up, and gets the idea across hilariously.

The Preacher in this picture is obviously a fervent herald of the message of eternal hell-fire and damnation.

The Teacher shows a prim disapproval of practically everyone and everything.

The Screacher is obviously loudly complaining of the state of the world in general.

ANOTHER PICTURE, "Ladies' Day at the Ball-Park," is a group of feminine heads, surely drawn from life. The postures and expressions must draw a chuckle from even the most ardent feminist.

"The Visiting Committee" is three ladies, solemnly sizing up someone's home and ready to disapprove of any deviation from perfection.

"The Dogcatcher"—who made a mistake and caught two children—and "Dancing Cheek to Cheek" were two others.

Some of these small stone pictures were not in a humorous vein.

"Davy Crockett" was an excellent portrait of this hero of the Old West. "Golden Wedding"—she had sold the original and had not been able to get the exact stones to please her for this copy—was a touching picture of two very old people who had obviously been through a great deal together.

In some of these figurines and pictures, some other material than stones had been used to complete the effect.

Although she relies largely on the natural shape and color of the stones to form a picture, there are places where she has added a small touch of paint to bring out the proper effect.

She has some figures and groups made of wood, in the natural shape in which she found it, touched up a bit. One, "Old Mr. Micklejohn Had a Leg of Hickory On", is a piece of hickory wood in its original form, to which she had added only one leg of the same kind of wood. It is a very bent, old man leaning on a cane.

Another is two amazingly real snakes curled around each other.

Mrs. Marsh has painted many pictures, mostly in water colors. She has never taken a lesson in painting. Most of her paintings are landscapes.

One, painted on a piece of orange crate was a water scene with a sailboat in the foreground.

The sail was slightly carved out in the wood, and twisted in the wind so truly that you could feel the wind blow.

SHE HAD a seascape of waves curling over rocks, with white foam dripping from the crests, which was impressive and real.

She lately has started working with tempora, and showed us one soft, lovely landscape done on wall-board, which gave it a fascinating texture.

One of the landscapes she showed me was not painted, but formed of bits of peanut skins, raffia, autumn leaves and various bits of material, glued on a board and arranged and blended into a pleasing picture.

Mrs. Marsh had an antique shop in Chicago for several years. Left over from these days, she has some old prints and newspapers dating as far back as the early nineteenth century.

Some time ago she mailed several cartoons from Civil War days to President Eisenhower and has a letter from the White House thanking her for them.

The Marshes have had a summer home at Lake Marie for about 60 years, and Mrs. Marsh and her daughter have been permanent residents for about 15 years.

News of Lakesports

Golfview Thanks All

Golfview this week expressed its thanks to the teams, the fans and to the Antioch News for helping make "it possible to have a Lake Keno (softball) league get underway in its first season of ball."

Les Huff and his wife, Verna, of the Golfview tavern expressed the thanks in a note to the Antioch News.

By Bill Ferris

Caseys Builders, after having been beaten twice this season by Antioch Bowl, came thru with the big one as they pounded the men from Bowl 15 to 8 and take the Lake Keno championship last Saturday.

George Pahlke, Jack Bellucci and the leading pitcher in the league, John Bishop, each collected three hits while Lonnie Christensen banged out 3 for the losers.

In the first game of the evening the Chiefs defeated Jim's Service 11 to 4 with the 7 hit pitching of young Danny Seyfarth who Dick Carlucci figures will be set to go with next season.

Sid Parker, the Chiefs 3rd sacker wacked out 4 hits in four trips to lead the attack on Jim Brodie and the servicemen.

Jim tagged young Seyfarth for a home run in the first inning.

'BALL IN THE FACE.' An unidentified Antioch high football prospect is shown at right after apparently missing a forward pass in practice held at the Sequoia field. One of the coaches was working the boys out on pass defense, pass catching, tackling and blocking. Three of the youths wore yellow shirts and other trio white so there was as little mixup as possible. Warm, sunny weather was provided by the weatherman in the last few days to help condition the grid prospects.

RACER TURNED OVER in action at the Kenosha county fairgrounds track at Wilmot. The photographer had to be quick on the "trigger" to snap this shot as eager hands quickly put the car driven by Bob Strunk of Kenosha back on its "feet." This was one of several cars racing that evening that turned over or crashed into fences. A crowd of more than 3,000 contributed $1,400 in prize money to the racers.

'Uncle Miltie' Wins Again At Race Track In Wilmot

WILMOT, WIS. — Who can do it? That's the cry at Wilmot again.

With faster cars coming into the competition, with more experienced drivers — "Uncle Miltie" just goes a little faster so he can watch the field from his rearview mirror.

Karl Kulow from Plymouth has been gaining a little each week, having the second fastest time behind Curelo. "Little Eddie" Stillman, one of the top drivers in the middlewest, certainly has been trying.

But the little Mercury powered Crosley beats him in time trials, heat races and the feature.

"Uncle Miltie" received a gold watch from PatenJim Auto Racing for being high point man. It was presented by Babe Barty of Trevor, Wis. She is president of the Rana-han Fan Club.

Larry Scholzen of Kenosha won the first heat last Saturday evening with Mel White of Winthrop Harbor second and Darv Weissen of Fox Lake third.

FENCING BECAME kindling wood in every event. In the second heat it was Art Reeves of Libertyville, Ray Clark of Lake Zurich, Ill., and Len Ackerman of Ringwood, Ill., finishing in that order.

Jim Bates of Palantine, Ill., put up a gruelling battle to win first in the third heat ahead of Fran Semars of Milwaukee and Roy York of Mundellin, Ill.

The fourth heat composed of the 14 fastest cars of the night was a "lulu."

Curelo as usual the fastest car of the night, started in last position and worked through the pack to win ahead of Jack "Flip" Frost of Zion and Bob Grodz of Grayslake.

After a brief intermission, flagman Bob Clarkson dropped the green flag for the start of the semi-feature event.

Swede Erickson of Gurnee won the hard fought battle, followed by Larry Shoozel, John Wood, Weissron, Ron Larson, Lloyd Gayhart, Glenn Richman, Bill Leschuek, Len Ackerman and York, in that order.

THE FEATURE race was composed of the 16 fastest qualifiers and after 25 very hard fought laps, guess who won.

That's right, "Uncle Miltie". It took him 21 laps to get through the pack and take the lead, but he did it. Eddie Stillman came in second, Frost was third, Eric Johnson fourth, Kulow fifth and Fran Semars sixth.

Don't forget the modified stock cars will roar at the "Little Indianapolis of Wisconsin" two more nights this fall, Sept. 12 and Sept. 19.

In modified stock car racing, the inverted or reverse start is used, namely the fastest cars begin in front, the back with the slower ones in front. The first heat is the slowest cars of the night, the second heat the next slowest, etc.

Due to technical difficulties, Paul "Ding Dong" Bell did not drive Saturday night so No. 5 was driven by Ray "Stroker" Toft.

Paid attendance last Saturday evening at the track in Wilmot was 2,733, the driver's purse totaled $1,225 and 59 cars qualified.

Bob Popelka Leaves For Service in Army

Bob Popelka, one of the more popular players in the Lake Keno Softball league in past seasons, left Wednesday to do his part in Uncle Sam's army.

He played for the Golfview Badgers for the past two seasons and in that time was a sparkplug for his team and his teammates.

Scorer Bill Ferris expressed the "best wishes" of the league and himself to Popelka.

Supervised Swimming At Beach Concluded

PADDOCK LAKE, Wis.—Labor day weekend signaled the end of supervised swimming at Kenosha county's Old Settlers park at Paddock lake, it was announced this week.

Equipment was taken from the water Tuesday and the life guard has been removed from duty at the beach.

Park dressing rooms and toilet facilities, however, will be kept open, but it was advised that swimming will be on a self-risk basis.

Attendance at the 4½ acre park climbed 53 per cent this year over a year ago. Actual count this year was about 115,000 visitors.

A capacity crowd used the park on Labor day, the final holiday of the summer.

The first U. S. destroyer developed only 1,600 h.p. while destroyer leaders of today like the USS Willis A. Lee develop 60,000 h.p.

The U. S. Navy's new air-sea base at Rota, Spain, is only 40 miles from the tiny port of Palos from which Columbus sailed to discover the new world.

Top Ski Boats Entered In Fox Lake Power Boat Races Sun. Afternoon

The Chain O' Lakes Boat club will stage their last regular race course of the season this Sunday, Sept. 13, at Fox Lake.

Returning to their home course at the Waltonian hotel after a crowd pleasing demonstration last Sunday at Kankakee, Ill., the ski class will launch the greatest number of boats yet this year.

A field of 11 ski boats including the recent world record holder, Rumrunner 9, are expected to be on hand for Sunday's regatta.

Races in other sanctioned classes will include the class E runabouts and the cracker box class.

Spectators will watch with special interest the battle of the ski boats.

These relatively small craft with their high powered engines have grown to be the largest class in the local club and a great crowd drawer.

The Rumrunner 9, holder of the world speed mark, will have some stiff competition in the form of Ronnie Larson's Miss Quicky.

Les Brown, driving his Lone Gone, shocked his cohorts last Sunday by herding his much improved craft into first place of the second heat.

The Exterminator, driven by Jud Crash Kelly, will be pushing for that smooth water out in front along with Lou Portalski and the Greyhound.

With a total of 11 entries expected it should prove to be an exciting afternoon for boat racing fans of the area.

Following Sunday's action the boys will begin preparations on their equipment for a journey to Madison, Ind.

The ski class has been invited to appear on the program at Madison along with the Unlimited hydroplanes.

The ski class is the only other class that will be racing there and it will give the local boats a chance to compete against equipment from California and Florida.

An FHA-Approved Dog House

The saying that "every dog has his day" no longer holds true, for now our canine friends have a full week dedicated just to them. During National Dog Week the F.H.A. (Friskies Housing Authority) appeals to dog owners to check their pet's housing. Sub-standard dog houses that are damp and drafty seriously affect their tenants' health and may cause rheumatism, arthritis and other joint afflictions. Dogs enjoy privacy occasionally as much as humans do, and having a retreat of their own makes for a more contented pet — and a more contented owner, too.

Friskies basic dog house sketched above can be constructed for as little as $15.00. If your dog's present house doesn't measure up to F.H.A. standards and you're a dog owning do-it-yourselfer, here's your chance to do Fido a good turn and have fun doing it. The dog house sketched above is scaled to accommodate one large dog that measures approximately 24 inches at the shoulder, or two little fellows such as a Scottie or a Beagle. It's built on a concrete slab of cemented-together cinder blocks with a corrugated metal
